THE BOSSES' FIGHT.

General Grant in Full Sympathy with Conkling.

NO CHANCE FOR THE KICKERS TO BE RE-ELECTED.

Conkling's Organ at Albany Gives Up the Fight—A Speech by Collector Robertson—He will Remain in the Senate during the present session—Etc., Etc., Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

New York, May 19.—The Times' Albany special says: It is now settled beyond question that in no circumstances except an unlikely combination between stalwarts and democrats can either Conkling or Platt be returned to the U. S. senate by this legislature. Yesterday the stalwarts claimed 47 votes in the assembly and 17 in the senate that could be counted on for their re-election. Today they cannot muster more than 32 in both houses, and the prospects are that before the election takes place they will not be able to count 30. They require 81 to elect, and this number cannot be had so long as Conkling and Platt remain in the field, except as the result of an improbable alliance with democrats. Samuel J. Tilden already has his agents on the ground to see what aid he can render them, more especially Conkling, but it is not believed that he can make any combinations looking to the future or in gratitude for the past that will save them. Tilden, strange as it may appear, is anxious to be elected governor again, and if the question of filling the vacant senatorial seats could be turned over to the next legislature, he might furnish Conkling material assistance in carrying the senatorial and assembly districts next fall and trust to getting his reward in the gubernatorial contest the year after. A few days will settle the matter, but unless Conkling be re-elected within a week the people may make up their minds that a combination or conspiracy is being hatched which, when it comes to develop itself, will reveal among other grotesque figures the head of the cunning old fox of Gramercy park. So confident are the administration leaders at Albany that Robertson says he will not take his commission as collector until Conkling and Platt are beaten, and two republican senators, both administration men, are elected to fill the places of the men who have resigned.

An Albany dispatch to the Telegram says: One thing is evident—Conkling certainly left his friends in utter ignorance of his desire or purpose. Stalwart leaders here had no notice that the resignations were to be made, and they have no intimation from the exsenators since. There is no man in Albany authorized to say that they are candidates for re-election, and no effort is in progress to secure that result. Up to the present time there is certainly every indication that they do not propose to ask to return. A prominent stalwart state officer said to-day that he was well convinced that both senators had no expectation or wish to be returned. The stalwart leaders, while conceding at present that it does not appear that the exsenators would be elected, assert their ability to fill the vacancies with two stalwarts, and mention Grant, Richard Crowley, Cornell, Folger, E. G. Lapham and Sharpe as possible candidates. It is conceded that about forty names have been obtained to a pledge which binds the signers to vote for administration men for the vacancies.

At the same time the statements agree that if exsenators Conkling and Platt and Vice President Arthur and the state administration should appear on the ground and enter actively into the canvass the [illegible] little and the situation would change. Want of some definite plan however is [illegible] their strength and they appear later [illegible]. Administration forces are extremely jubilant [illegible] that they are not yet ready to claim sufficient strength to control the caucus committee. [illegible] a separate caucus will be called. A test of strength will certainly be had [illegible]. Such a state of affairs [illegible] Senator Robertson [illegible] the old machine.

Conkling's Organ Comes Down Gracefully.

New York, May 19.—The Express' Albany special says: [illegible]

Conkling Politically Dead.

[illegible]

Speech by Collector Robertson.

New York, May 19.—Collector Robertson [illegible] intelligence, firmness and patience will protect the constitution from every assault, coming from whatever quarter it may. I did not seek the collectorship [illegible]. I visited neither Washington nor Mentor. I had no correspondence or communication directly or indirectly with the president in regard to it. [illegible] under such circumstances was exceedingly gratifying to me. During the pendency of the nomination in the senate other events of a gratifying character occurred. I was much gratified with the early and judicious advice of the chief magistrate of this great state in respect to the proper disposition of that nomination, inspired as that advice was that a high sense of honor, sound judgment and great practical sagacity, advice which if taken in the spirit in which it was given would have strengthened, solidified and held the republican party in this state invincible. I was also gratified with the unanimous tender of thanks to the president for my nomination by my associates in both branches of the legislature and with the like unanimous request of the senate for prompt confirmation. I was gratified by the generous support which the entire press of the country with rare exceptions gave the president in the contest that resulted in my confirmation. I was gratified with the almost universal expression of republicans and democrats everywhere throughout the length and breadth of the land in commendation of the president's course throughout the entire affair. The popular approval of the president's purpose to maintain his constitutional rights has been such as has never been vouchsafed to any other president. I venture to say that there is no neighborhood within the U. S., a majority of whose inhabitants are not in full accord with the president on the question of the abolition of the unit rule, the defeat of the third-term project and the establishment of the principles of district representation at Chicago and reaffirmance at Washington today of the constitutional right of the president to nominate to the senate and to have such nominations considered by the senate are hopeful evidences of the dawning of a brighter day in politics, when independence of thought and independence of action may be exercised within the party by any loyal member thereof, without the certainty of instant death beneath the wheels of the political juggernaut. When that day comes, and not till then, we shall have what you and all other good citizens have long and earnestly desired, a government by the people.

In conclusion, let me say that I shall, in the discharge of the duties of the office held by me, take care that the interests of the people receive no detriment. I thank you for your congratulations and the honor you have done me on this occasion, and bid you good night.

The Situation at Albany.

Albany, May 19.—Administration republicans are ready for election, but won't enter the caucus. They are able to defeat Conkling or Platt, unless the democrats go with the other side, and if the democrats fuse with the Conklingites, they believe they can beat both at the polls next fall. The Conklingites say that they want an early election and say that Conkling wont be a candidate. The democrats oppose an election claiming that the question should go to the people. Probably there will be a vote without caucus.

Improbable.

Washington, May 19.—Conkling has just one more surprise in store for the great American public. A gentleman who had a long talk with him says that Conkling's resignation was made in good faith and that he does not intend to permit his name to go before the Albany legislature for re-election. He says, also, that the original suggestion of resignation came from Platt and not Conkling. Platt is so disgusted that he will not again be a candidate. If the two New York senators are in earnest in their resolutions to retire to private life, this will have a decided effect in changing the tide of feeling which has set in swiftly against them.

Conkling Talks—His Actions and His Prospects.

Washington, May 19.—Senator Conkling arranged to leave for New York city this evening. For two days past he has talked very little about his plans and purposes except to most confidential friends. His conversations Monday and Tuesday with friends who called leaked out and made him more guarded. He says nothing about criticism of himself by the press and does not seem to notice it. Talking today to a friend who served years with him in the senate he said that he did not intend to turn his hand over to obtain re-election; that he had submitted the issue to the republican party of New York and would abide by its judgment without any attempt to influence it. If New York republicans choose to send another man there over him [illegible] than who would labor, strive, endure and suffer for New York in the list of republican states, he would utter no word of protest. On the other hand, if the party decides to re-elect him he will resume his senatorial chair, but he is not begging for it. He is not worth exceeding $10,000. He has served his party and state so long that he is a poor man. He could make at least $10,000 a year in law practice and is not [illegible]. Men who are working for his re-election are doing so without advice or [illegible]. Conkling expressed no opinion as to the situation at Albany and gave no further insight into his plans than that contained in what is here [illegible] that can be mentioned as significant, and that is no senator makes any move to take Conkling's seat, which is one of the best in the senate. The prevailing opinion among republican senators [illegible] is that Conkling will be re-elected. [illegible] say that the half-breeds at Albany are doing their usual blowing, but when it comes to voting they will be small and weak [illegible].

The Independent Association Protests.

New York, May 19.—The executive committee of the independent republican association, of which Horace White is a member, has issued an address to [illegible] the [illegible] and Platt for the [illegible] to be senators of the [illegible].

GENERAL GRANT'S VIEWS.

He Supports Conkling in his Demands and Charges "Somebody" with being behind Garfield.

Washington, May 19.—The following letter from Ex-President Grant to Senator Jones, of Nevada, shows that in the present contest between Ex-Senator Conkling and the President, Conkling has the full sympathy and support of Gen. Grant. This letter to Senator Jones contained a letter from the ex-president to President Garfield, which was delivered to him personally by Senator Jones. Its contents are not known, but there can be no doubt but that its purport was similar to that of the letter to Mr. Jones. The letter is as follows:

My Dear Senator: I see by the latest dispatches received here from the capital of our country, that the dead-lock in organizing the senate has not yet been broken, and that nothing has been done by the president to allay the bitterness which must be engendered by his most recent appointments. When the first batch of nominations for New York were sent in, I was delighted. I believed then that the president had determined to recognize the republican party, but his nominations of the next day convinced me that the first set was but part of a deep-laid scheme by somebody to punish prominent leaders for being openly friendly to me. I cannot believe that Gen. Garfield is the author of this policy. I give him credit for being too big a man to descend to such means for the punishment of men who gave him hearty support in his election and who are disposed to give him the same support, for the offense of having had a former preference for some one else for office which he now holds. But Garfield is president and is responsible for all acts of the administration.

Conkling and Platt are the chosen senators from the great state of New York, and that too against all the opposition of the administration created by the same party that elected them. This should give them all the stronger claim to be consulted in the matter of appointments in their state. When it comes to filling the most influential office in their state without consulting them, it is a great slight, and when he selects the most offensive man to be found, it becomes an insult and ought to be so resented to the bitter end.

I sincerely hope that the president will see this and correct his mistake himself and restore harmony to the party. He owes this to himself and to those without whom he could not have been elected. Nobody believes that he could have carried the state of New York without the active support of her present senators. Their passive support would not have answered. Without the state of New York, Garfield would not now be president. His rewarding Robertson is not only offensive to the New York senators but is offensive to New York republicans. The chance of [illegible] and Cramer, the two appointments [illegible] strong personal interest [illegible] to me, because of our personal relations, and my wish that he should [illegible] would support him [illegible] they were worth it [illegible]

Yours very truly,
U. S. GRANT.
Hon. J. P. Jones, U. S. Senator, Washington, D. C.

The Facts in the Cramer and Fish Matter.

Washington, May 19.—Gen. Grant's letter to Senator Jones published in New York to-day has [illegible] Mr. Fish [illegible] Cramer [illegible] Mr. Evarts, secretary of state, the following:

"I enclose herewith a dispatch tendering my resignation. I feel that I can no longer retain my position here with justice to myself and my family. When I accepted it I hoped that it would soon be restored to its former rank and pay, and you were kind enough to lead me to believe that upon such restoration I should be retained in office. I know what a flood of applications the announcement of my resignation would create, and therefore to protect the department from them I send my resignation in an unnumbered dispatch to you." On March 14th, in a communication addressed to Blaine, Mr. Fish mentioned his previous dispatch to Evarts and at the same time sent an official duplicate addressed to Blaine. Fish also wrote Blaine, promising hearty support to the administration, although insisting on his resignation being accepted. Secretary Blaine accepted it in a letter of the kindliest tone and expression of interest and regret. Later Blaine cabled Fish an offer of the Danish mission having heard that he would like to remain in the diplomatic service. Fish responded: "No thank you. Want promotion. Could I have Berlin?" The Berlin mission could not be given him, so correspondence ceased.

THE NATION'S BUSINESS.

The New York "Public" Makes a Good Showing for the Second week in May.

New York, May 19.—From the Public exchange for the second week of May even more than those of the first week show splendid unanimity of increase in every part of the country. At this date last year prices were no longer at their highest, nor was [illegible] at extreme flood tide, but its volume was still remarkably large and exceeded by 41 per cent. that of the corresponding week of '79, every city but two showing an increase and only one city reporting an increase of less than ten per cent. In comparison with returns for such a week last year, those given below are decidedly satisfactory. It is impossible to extract from them any evidence that business is stagnant or dull, or that the general prosperity of the country is declining. While speculation was active in the stock market last week it did not affect exchanges relatively more than the operations of one year ago. Sales of stock amounted to 2,787,10[illegible] shares, and exchanges after deducting double the values of stock sold amounted to about $741,849,209 against $580,188,069 for the corresponding week of last year, gain of [illegible] per cent. Gains at Philadelphia, Cincinnati and New Orleans are comparatively small while the increase in Boston, Pittsburg, Louisville and other of the larger cities is particularly encouraging. But weekly reports are hardly sufficient to warrant the inference that the transfers of trade from one city to another are taking place. S. F. reports a notable gain, but this is partly because its exchanges one year ago were unusually small, and comparison at Kansas City is with a week in which exchanges exceeded those of '79 by 91 per cent. Most of the manufacturing and minor trading centers seem to keep pace very fairly with the larger cities in growth and business. There is no indication of any considerable falling off in any branch of trade or manufacture in any part of the country. On the contrary evidence of general and large improvement is conclusive. The country has never done as much business in May as it is doing now.

NOTES ON CURRENT NEWS.

Of the eight men who ran on the four presidential tickets of 1860 only one is alive to-day—Hannibal Hamlin.

A critic says that Carlyle was afflicted with mental strabismus. This means that Tom was cock-eyed in his mind.

Edison says he has on file applications from more than three thousand cities and villages in which electric light companies are to be formed.

The New Orleans Times says emphatically that the jetties are all that they promised to be, and have done for the mouth of the river all they were expected to do.

People who have been doubled up by the gorgeous looking Lawton blackberry will be interested in learning that the gentleman after whom it was named died in New York the other day.

"You don't mean to say that I am a thief?" remarked Dorsey to MacVeagh. "Thou art the man," replied the attorney general calmly. The gentleman from Philadelphia has plenty of "sand," if he does part his hair in the middle.

The Whitehall Review says that James Gordon Bennett is engaged to marry the daughter of the Prince of Furstenberg. It will be a long time before the boys around the Herald office can accustom themselves to calling Jim by his new name.

The Galveston News declares that immense bodies of fresh water underlie a large portion of Texas, and that occasionally some of this vast reservoir finds vent in rivers, like the San Marcos, San Antonio and others, which burst forth in full volume, and are larger at their heads than at their mouths.

The greatest of the victories of the Revolutionary war is to be perpetuated by the purchase of [illegible] acres of land on York river, including the house in which Washington dictated the terms of surrender to Cornwallis, by the Yorktown Centennial Association, with a view of presenting it, after the celebration in October, to the United States, to be preserved forever as a park and to be known as Lafayette Park.

Earl Granville has communicated to Minister Lowell the desire of England for an international copyright treaty with the United States. The treaty which Earl Granville favors is such a one as exists between England and European countries, and would permit English authors to copyright their books in America and American authors to copyright their works in England. Mr. Lowell seems to favor the proposition for a treaty.

The Terms of Settlement.

New York, May 20.—It was announced at the office of the N. P. R. R. yesterday that amicable settlement of differences between that company and the Villard combination has been made. Villard buys the stocks of President Billings and his friends, and consents to discontinuance of the suits brought against the company relative to the recent issue of 18,000 shares of common stock. In consideration of these things Villard is given control of the road. The first step toward fulfillment of this agreement was taken at a meeting of the Northern Pacific directors yesterday. The resignations of Joseph D. Potts, of Philadelphia, and Johnston Livingstone, of this city were received and Thos. F. Oakes, vice president and general manager of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co., and Artemas H. Holmes director of the company were elected as their successors. Other changes are likely to occur, although it is said that many of the present board are in full sympathy with Villard's plans. Villard does not desire radical change in the present management, his friends say, and will be content to fill any vacancies that may occur. It is understood Billings will [illegible] of his position [illegible]. At a meeting yesterday [illegible] resolutions were adopted providing for an extension of the road from Kalama to Portland, and on the Cascade branch [illegible] river to Tacoma.

WASHINGTON CITY

Confirmations.

Washington, May 19.—The senate, in executive session to-day, confirmed Blanche K. Bruce of Mississippi, register of the treasury; J. B. Loring of Massachusetts, commissioner of agriculture to take effect June 20; J. M. Lusk, charge d'affaires to Paraguay and Uruguay; Thos. A. Osborn, minister to Brazil; Horace Taylor, U. S. consul to Marseilles, France; Geo. Manly, minister resident to the United States of Colombia; Lewis Wallace, minister to Turkey; Stephen A. Hurlbut, minister to Peru; Judson Kilpatrick, minister to Chili; John F. Clements of Louisiana, consul to Guatemala.

Nominations.

The president sent to the senate the following nominations: S. L. Woodford, district attorney southern district; A. W. Tenny, district attorney eastern district; Henry E. Knox, marshal southern district; McDougall, marshal northern district; Charles A. Gould, collector of customs at Buffalo; Geo. B. Loring of Mass., commissioner of agriculture, vice LeDuc resigned; Glenni W. Scofield of Pa., judge of court of claims; Blanche K. Bruce, Miss., register of the treasury, vice Scofield resigned; consuls: Selah Merrill of Massachusetts, Jerusalem; John M. Glover of Indiana, Havre; James C. Zook of California, Tientsin; Volney V. Smith of Arkansas, St. Thomas; George F. Mosher of New Hampshire, Nice; E. H. Rogers of Nebraska, Vera Cruz; Jessie Moore of Illinois, Callao; H. A. Daley of Nebraska, Chemnitz; David Vickers of New Jersey, Matanzas.

The New York Nominations.

Three of the five New York nominations recently withdrawn in order to advance the consideration of the Robertson case were returned to the senate this afternoon and the other two are replaced with names which further indicate that the president has no desire to follow up his triumph vindictively, but on the contrary wishes to have the support of both factions in New York regardless of past difficulties. Chas. A. Gould, who is nominated for the Buffalo collectorship instead of Tyner, has been heretofore known as the leader of the Conkling forces in that city and is said to have been Conkling's original choice for the position. Henry E. Knox, whose name is presented instead of Payne's for the marshalship of the southern district, was a classmate of Garfield at Williams college. He is a lawyer in good practice and has never been prominently engaged in politics, but is understood to have been in a great way friendly to Conkling. All these nominations will doubtless be confirmed to-morrow by common consent. Their confirmation it is hoped will remove New York politics from Washington indefinitely.

The Pending Nominations.

All New York nominations received to-day were reported back from the judiciary and commerce committees favorably and placed on the calendar for action by the senate to-morrow. The nomination of Chandler was also placed on the calendar without recommendation. Adjournment by Saturday.

A Gratifying Appointment.

The appointment of Senator Hill of Colorado, to-day, to be a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian institute, was a notable compliment to that gentleman and will doubtless prove of value to Colorado and the mining regions of the Pacific coast. His selection is understood to have been made on account of his scientific education and long experience as professor of geology and chemistry in Brown University, and is for these reasons especially gratifying to Prof. Baird, who as secretary, has general charge of the institution.

Takes Charge.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Elmer assumes the duties of his office to-day.

Bonds.

The amount of 5 per cent. bonds extended at 3½ per cent., including those which the department has been advised will be presented for continuance, is $171,6[illegible].

Silver Purchase.

The treasury department purchased [illegible] ounces of fine silver to-day for delivery at the Philadelphia and San Francisco mints.

Increase of Railroad Postal Service.

Six thousand one hundred and thirty miles of new railroad service has been established by the post office department. As the department avails itself of increased facilities for mail transportation afforded by every mile of new railway constructed in the country, this 6130 miles may be said to represent [illegible] in the past 12 months.

Mrs. Garfield.

Mrs. Garfield continues to improve.

New Rules.

New instructions from the commissioner of the general land office to the surveyor general for the survey of public lands and private land claims; also mineral claims, will shortly be issued.

Missing Documents.

There being a very great need in the war department [illegible] great numbers of volunteer pension claims, which cannot be satisfactorily verified for want of information which missing records of disbanded volunteer commands will afford, and it having become known that officers of late volunteer forces have still in their possession, or under their control, books and other records pertaining to their corps, divisions, brigades, regiments and companies, Adjutant General Drum has issued a circular call-

The new Hungarian loan of [illegible] 4 per cent. gold rentes, has been subscribed many times over and is very strong at 1 per cent premium.

The French Tunisian Treaty.

Paris, May 19.—Jules Ferry, president of the council read in the chamber of deputies to-day the text of the Tunisian treaty the substance of which has already been made known. He said that the treaty would be of mutual benefit. The government entertained nothing but friendly sentiments towards the bey, and was disposed to give him fresh proof thereof. [illegible] in his legitimate authority or independence. No doubt could exist in the mind of Europe of the intentions of France. She should be content with the treaty.

The Monetary Conference.

At the monetary conference most of the delegates who had already spoken replied to arguments adduced by subsequent speakers against the views propounded by them. Evarts and Dumas recapitulated their arguments in favor of bimetallism. A general discussion following. After having heard a general discussion and examining the monetary situation from an international view, and having regard to declarations made in the name of certain governments, and in consideration of the fact that several delegates desire temporary suspension of sittings in order to confer with their governments, the conference decided to adjourn until June 30th. The conference was intensely interesting. In a very able speech Judge Howe outlined the American position on the question of bimetallism. The United States, he said, are not here on behalf of mine owners to build the market for silver. Agriculture is our chief interest. Our annual cotton crop is worth seven times, our wheat twelve times, our crop eighteen times the annual product [illegible] mines. America is seeking for herself and the world a broad and [illegible] money basis upon which thirty thousand million of the world's indebtedness can rest. Judge Howe predicted that this conference would free the mints on equal terms or nothing. The government of the United States offers to stand side by side with the states represented here in upholding the monetary functions of both gold and silver.

SUPREME COURT.

Salem, May 19, 1881.

Supreme court met at 10 o'clock A. M., Chief Justice Lord and Associate Justice Waldo [illegible].

B. F. Gillis, app., vs. City of Portland, resp.; judgment of circuit court affirmed.

J. Brenner & Co., resp., vs. Fleckenstein & Mayer, app.; reargued; judgment of circuit court affirmed.

S. Abrams, resp., vs. T. H. Taylor et al., app.; [illegible] allowed [illegible] costs and disbursements.

John B. Dawson, app., vs. James B. Crossen, resp.; respondent allowed until Sept. 1, 1881 to file brief.

J. W. Manning, resp., vs. Henry [illegible]; county clerk of [illegible] county, app.; judgment of circuit court reversed. Opinion by Waldo, J.

[illegible] an act of the legislature of the state of Oregon, approved October 20, 1880, entitled "an act to provide the compensation of the sheriffs and clerks of the fourteen counties named in the act, and also to provide for the payment of [illegible] of fixed sums of money, for the performance of said services by the sheriffs and clerks of said counties, to provide annual salaries for the said sheriffs and clerks, and establish a table of fees for services performed by said officers for said counties different from that established by law for other counties in the state." The act further provides that the fees so established should be collected by the sheriffs and clerks of the counties included in the act, and paid over to said counties.

Held, That said act was a local law for the assessment and collection of taxes for county purposes within the meaning of subdivision 10 of article 4 of the constitution of Oregon, that the legislature shall not pass local or special laws for the assessment and collection of taxes for state, county, township or road purposes, and consequently void.

A few equity cases are carried over to the next term, decisions on which will be rendered early in said term.

Ordered that the supreme court stand adjourned sine die.

The People with the President.

[From the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.]

If Mr. Conkling would turn for a moment from himself and his friends to think personal [illegible] ambitions, and consult only the interests of the party, he would accept the president at his word and let the nomination be confirmed. He must not be unmindful of the fact that all over the country there has been manifested an earnest desire that the president should be given the fullest opportunity to carry out his plan for recognizing all elements in the interest of peace and harmony. The great mass of the party to-day stands by the president in this matter and cannot accept the reasons assigned by Mr. Conkling as sufficient to justify his making war upon the administration.

POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Fetid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS of CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 20, 1881.

WHO SHALL BE PRESIDENT?

The people of the United States did not elect Mr. Conkling or any other senator to the presidency nor did they expect that, when they elected Gen. Garfield to the position, he would permit any other person to be president while himself standing in the background and submissively doing the will of a senatorial cabal. If the principle for which Mr. Conkling contends, and under which the government was conducted during the incumbency of President Grant, be allowed as the correct principle, then the president is but a mere clerk of a group of senatorial magnates, to be used by the various members of this combination as they may require, to transmit to the senate chiefly communications conveying nominations for public office which the president has not made of own choice and responsibility, but which the respective senators have made and instructed him to transmit. President Grant surrendered the functions of the executive in this way to the members of the senatorial junta, and the result was anything but a successful one either for the public service or for his party. So obediently did he follow the dictation of senators that any one of the "group" could get any appointment that he might see fit to demand. Senators were thus invited to name their personal adherents for official positions, and were given to understand that if at any time an official was not doing satisfactorily the senator's personal work in his state, such official's removal might be had for the asking and a loyal personal follower of the senator substituted. The consequence was that every senator of small mind and methods—and these were a majority—built up in his state a ring devoted to his individual fortunes, which got control of the machinery of the party, pursued a systematic course of trickery and proscription, attempted to exclude or override all men of independent spirit, and by natural consequence brought the party to defeat and disaster. The house of representatives was lost and the senate was lost; while the presidency was saved only by the fortune of accident through the electoral commission. Such was the result of the surrender by the president of his duties and responsibilities. During late years Senator Conkling has assumed the right to control every administration in this way, claiming that his "rights" were violated if he could not make the president his servant in the distribution of the public offices; and when he has been unable to carry this point, as in the case of the last president, and now again of the present one, he has made relentless war on the administration. The question, however, rises far above any controversy as to who shall capture the official spoils and divide them. It is a question whether the citizen elected president by the people shall be president, or another citizen not elected president but who demands the right to exercise the functions of the presidential office. President Garfield has but one course open before him which can lead to success. That is to go right on and be president in fact as well as in name. He has gone too far forward to take any step backward without loss of public prestige and confidence. In every effort he may make to maintain the dignity and authority of the office he will be sustained by public sentiment. The people care nothing about the distribution of the offices save that they shall be wisely bestowed and bestowed by the president, and not by any political boss senatorial or otherwise. They want a civil service composed of men who are fit, morally and mentally, to discharge the duties of the offices to which they are appointed, and they want all officials appointed solely by reason of fitness. They recognize that the constitution places the power of nominating in the hands of the president only, and they want that power kept there.

OF MAKING BOOKS.

Truly of making books there is no end. Certain old sayings have had to wait a long time for largest fulfillment; and this is one of them. So, as the New York Times tells us, public libraries throughout the world are now brought face to face with a problem which each year becomes more serious and more difficult to solve. Few persons are able to realize what enormous strides have been made in the sum total of printed books within fifty years. The share of them that finds its way into public collections is increasing at a tremendous rate. Departments of investigation are rapidly widening, and the librarian's effort to include in his collection all that possesses any human interest is constantly enlarged and reinforced. But, try how he may to systematize and classify his volumes, his ingenuity is taxed to its utmost and hindrances multiply on every hand. In national collections, like the one at Washington and that in the British museum, the problem has become most formidable. Laws which require that a copy of each new book shall be filed there alone produce additions to an amazing extent. It has been boasted in London that the volumes which come from Paternoster-row might in a few years be made into a pyramid which should fill the dome of St. Paul's. Readily may the least reflecting mind see the countless piles of volumes that are thus poured into the world's great libraries, and the difficulty of preserving order in the arrangement of them. To catalogue such vast collections with anything like completeness, accuracy, and intelligence is the great library problem of to-day, and many are the minds which seek in vain to solve it. For long years the British museum has been baffled by the impediments in its way, and the best it has been able to do thus far is to make a catalogue in manuscript. But the proportions this has assumed are appalling. Already it comprises more than 2300 manuscript volumes, so that the visitor who follows out cross references from one end of the alphabet to the other, or from the middle to either end, soon finds himself involved in bewildering peregrinations. Thousands of volumes are brought in every year from the copy tax alone, to say nothing of books from America and the colonies and books printed in past times, thus adding more and more to the complications of the undertaking. Far back in the career of the late Sir Anthony Panizzi, the subject of a printed catalogue was discussed, and in more recent years something has been really got under way, and eight parts, comprising 559 pages, have been put in print. No attempt is made to do the work systematically from A to Z, but such portions of the catalogue are taken as have become unmanageable. Thus entries bearing on Shakespeare, Homer and the Bible, each subject being large enough in itself to make one respectable volume, are to be printed, and in this way it is calmly hoped that the entire manuscript catalogue may be replaced in the course of forty years. When forty years are passed, who cannot foresee what mountains of new volumes will have accumulated—enough, perhaps, to make another catalogue a third or half the size of the finished one. To-day the museum contains more than 1,300,000 printed books. Considerably less than forty years ago it contained only 435,000, or about one-third as many as now. Who can say that we shall not yet realize as a fact what was once said by way of metaphor, that "the world itself could not contain the books that should be written?"

An agreement seems to have been reached at last between opposing interests in the Northern Pacific. Two directors representing the Villard interest, one of whom is Mr. T. F. Oakes, are to be admitted to the board. Other details are not yet furnished.

President Garfield's position is not so difficult as that of President Hayes. For the latter had the entire "stalwart" camp arrayed against him, while the former has only Roscoe Conkling and his followers.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES.

The late Lord Beaconsfield, in one of his public addresses upon the subject of American agricultural competition, set forth at great length that emigration of Englishmen to the New Dominion would be found a remedy for it. It was only necessary, he declared, for the English farmers to go to Manitoba and other provinces of British America, raise grain and send it to England in order to drive the farmers of the United States out of the English market. And, in support of his declaration, he stated that our farmers, recognizing the superiority of the Manitoba region, were leaving the states in great hosts to enjoy the advantages which that country offered. His lordship's opinions were not received with any great degree of enthusiasm, even at home, and here, where the truth was known, they excited only amusement. Moreover, it is pretty certain that the capabilities of British America between the great lakes and the Rocky mountains, as a grain growing country, have been much overrated, as the climate is too severe to encourage human habitation. The prediction that farmers of the United States would leave their lands and go in crowds and multitudes to plant and reap in the New Dominion excited ridicule even in England. It is true that large numbers of people are constantly leaving England for Canada, but very few of them remain there. They simply land there, remain long enough to learn that they can do better in the states, and then emigrate afresh across the border. The Montreal Star says: "The Canadians are every day leaving Canada to reside permanently in the United States, and it is just as idle to deny it as to deny that two and two make four." The Star predicts, however, that on account of the better government of the New Dominion, "there are men now living who will see the exodus turn the other way." Possibly, but they will live to be exceedingly old men if they do, unless it should happen that the Canadian agitation for annexation to the United States should be accomplished within a few years.

The city charter stands, its validity having been affirmed by the supreme court. The instrument is a medley of incongruities and contradictions, but perhaps may be taken as a fair average specimen of ring work. It was got through the legislature as a job, for the purpose of transferring the city government to the hands of a lot of municipal statesmen who have no visible means of support other than manipulation of the city's affairs; and now it will devolve on other classes of citizens to see that the play does not succeed in the next and main act, to-wit, the election. The professors of the art of municipal statesmanship, who are moved by the high ambition of governing the city for their own profit, will make every possible exertion to carry the election next month. If citizens do their duty the professors will find all their labor on the charter vain, as well as the anxious days and sleepless nights which they are spending in their efforts to carry the charter.

George C. Gorham, editor of the Washington Republican and candidate for secretary of the senate, admits that he has been arraigning the president in his paper for doing this thing and not doing that. Yet when the president mildly suggests that party harmony will not be greatly advanced by elevating an avowed enemy of the administration to a high office, Gorham gratuitously declares that the president is not a king or a czar, and that it is none of his concern whether or not high offices at the gift of a republican president and a republican senate be bestowed upon men who declare in advance their purpose to embarrass and break down the administration. Mr. Gorham is off his base and will, doubtless, be permitted to edit Brady's newspaper for a while longer. It is now very apparent that he will not again be secretary of the senate.

The "courtesy of the senate" is an instrument for corrupting state politics. When the federal offices in a state are given to the senator he uses them to control the legislature and state offices and to maintain himself in power by jobbery, bribery and all the various forms of corruption. The consequence is a debauched public service and pollution of the fountains of political life. Even in Oregon senatorial aspirants have on many occasions bought votes in the legislature by promising federal offices, depending on the rule of robbery known as "courtesy of the senate" to enable them to make payment. And all who know anything of Oregon politics know that in many cases payment has been made. This is the system which the bosses are fighting to maintain.

The reduction of the public debt by nearly $10,000,000 during April brings the total for the year, thus far, up to $78,999,602. This is at the rate of nearly $8,000,000 a month. It has been supposed that $100,000,000 would be reached in the year, which will require nearly $11,000,000 a month for the two months yet remaining. There remain of interest-bearing debt $1,655,749,350. Over $5,500,000 interest has ceased since maturity. A little over $408,000,000 bears no interest. There is a total cash in the treasury of $245,791,195 81, of which nearly $160,000,000 is available. This is a good showing.

A letter written by General Grant to Senator Jones of Nevada is published, in which the ex-president declares his sympathy for Mr. Conkling. The letter was, however, written prior to Conkling's resignation. It was quite to be expected that General Grant would express the views his letter contains. When he occupied the executive office he suffered Mr. Conkling to be president of the state of New York, and surrendered absolutely the functions of the executive to the senatorial bosses in all the states. The present fight is against the system which was set up during the Grant administration. That Grant himself should support it now as he yielded to it then, is no wonder.

Robertson and Merritt having been confirmed, the president now sends back to the senate the same names for other official positions in New York which he withdrew a couple of weeks ago for the purpose of checkmating Conkling. The net result of the war waged by the great boss is his own elimination as a factor from the problem of politics. He doesn't present so grand an appearance as he did, but he knows a great deal more.

THE S. S. OREGON.—This steamer, according to the schedule of sailing dates, will leave San Francisco next Tuesday, May 24th. Owing to the delay of the arrival of the steamer State, the O. R. & N. Co. has ordered the Oregon to leave San Francisco for this port next Monday, May 23d. Shippers should remember this change in the date of sailing.

A "BOOST" FOR PORTLAND.

A correspondent writing from Portland to the San Francisco Chronicle, under recent date, speaks [illegible] city:

[illegible] wholesome [illegible] for the [illegible] of the western [illegible] New England regard for the institutions which contribute to the general welfare and character of the people as a whole. There is [illegible] the reckless and venturesome spirit [illegible] so common to the western shore. Little attention or sympathy for that kind of speculation, the stability of which is only equal to the daily and hourly movements of the mercury in the thermometer. Permanent stability in buildings, public enterprise, private enterprise, and character of the people, is the word which applies to this city and her merchants. It is the Mecca of the thorough business man. The hotels and boarding-houses are full to overflowing; business is booming; balance sheets have the figures on the right side; money is plenty, and everything is very prosperous. Going in any direction from New Market Theater block, on First street, a structure costing about $125,000, and having the largest and most elegant audience-room in the northwest, much building is in progress. Most of the public structures are large, built of brick and stone, and many private residences in course of erection are models of comfort and luxury. Real estate in this city has advanced very rapidly of late, ordinary building lots a mile from the business center, bring from $800 to $1200 each." Even under this pressure and that of high rents, the city is growing rapidly in population and wealth. Capitalists have at last become satisfied that Oregon will furnish most of the grain shipped to the old world, and that Portland should have a home-built fleet of sailing vessels. To this end it is proposed to aid the firm of Stephens & Richards, at St. Helens, a point twenty-two miles below the city, where schooners and the smaller vessels have been constructed. This firm have everything but the capital needed for building ships of a thousand tons. The capital will probably be furnished during the coming season.

BACK FROM CHINA.

A correspondent writing from Forest Grove under date of May 19th, sends the following:

Rev. J. E. Walker, who went out from his home in Forest Grove [illegible] years ago to engage in missionary work in China, has returned to this country for a short rest, and is now spending a few weeks with his mother at Forest Grove. Mr. Walker is pleasantly remembered [illegible], and later as a student and graduate from Pacific university, by many of the people of that place, and on Wednesday evening last they tendered a public reception to the returned missionary and his wife. This was held in the college chapel, Prof. Marsh presided, and [illegible] the guests to the citizens, who had gathered in a large company to do them honor. Appropriate remarks of greeting and congratulation, interspersed with personal reminiscences, were made by Rev. H. [illegible], one of Mr. Walker's former instructors in the university, and by President Herrick, who was [illegible] teacher of theology at Bangor seminary, and to these Mr. Walker responded in a happy and feeling manner. There were present, also, by a happy circumstance, two other [illegible], with their wives, who had been laboring in Alaska, Revs. S. H. Young and [illegible]. To them as well the courtesies of the reception were extended, and were acknowledged by them in brief remarks. [illegible] occasion [illegible] a peculiarly pleasant and interesting [illegible].

BRIEF NOTES.

The last [illegible] of the [illegible].

[illegible].

[illegible] will be offered to-night at New Market Theatre.

[illegible] official visit to Tillamook [illegible] on Wednesday.

I. G. Davidson, the photographer, has taken a large number of fine photographs of the new organ at the Taylor street M. E. church.

The Astorian of Thursday says: "But few fishermen went out last evening. It is generally thought the price will be fixed at 60 cents a fish."

The Taylor street church organ, in tone, is the largest on the Pacific coast, except that of Mr. Kalloch's church in San Francisco, made by the same firm. Concert this evening at 8 o'clock. Miss DuBois, Prof. Conrow and others are on the programme.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE LAST OPPORTUNITY.—This evening the Big Four minstrels will appear for the last time at New Market theater in a new bill. Theo. Jackson and May Nutt will appear in the sketch, "The Long and the Short of It;" the Rankins in new specialties, the Dimond and Arnold brothers in their clog dance, Airwan in a flute solo, Miss Emma Schutz in new songs and dances—in fact every feature will be new. The great sketch, "Fun in an Emigrant Car," will also be presented for the time in Portland. Secure your seats early and avoid the rush.

Sergeant Signal Corps, U. S. A.

BARMAN.

We are informed that Isaac Barman, the popular Clothier, is about ready to reopen the well known store formerly occupied by Ackerman Bros.

The store has been entirely refitted inside and an elegant new front put on, which, beyond question, will make it one of the handsomest establishments in this city.

The immense stock of Clothing and Gent's furnishing goods, which he bought at a very low figure, he intends to offer to his customers and the public at large at 90 cents on the Dollar.

Our opinion is that there never has been a better opportunity of buying goods at low figures than this. His aids, in attending to his patrons, are men well known and highly respected in our community, and we are satisfied that his selection will prove another point of his ability as a thorough business man.

AUCTION SALES.

Gilman & Co. will hold a sale this (Friday) morning at their rooms, at 10 A. M. A lot of very desirable real estate will be disposed of. The same firm will sell a lot of household furniture at the same time and place.

T. J. O'Connor & Co. will hold an auction sale of stock of merchandise at the store, corner of Morrison and Second streets to-day at 10 A. M.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

DEEDS.

R. J. Landis and wife to Jane Evans, 25 feet off N side of lot 8, blk 49 in Caruthers' add to Caruthers' add, together with one-half of street adjoining the same, May 18—$160.

Lone Fir Cemetery to D. W. Williams, lot 8, blk 10 in cemetery, May 17—$20.

PERSONAL.

Mr. August Dilg is lying very low with pneumonia.

Prof. F. H. Grubbs, late of The Dalles, is on a few days' visit to friends in this city and in the valley, and will return to Spokan Falls, where he has accepted a position in the employment of the Northern Pacific railroad.

DROWNED.

SPOKAN FALLS, May 17.

A man named H. Minor fell from a log in the mill pond at this place this afternoon and drowned before assistance reached him. The body was soon recovered.

Prize dancing at Oanbrinus Garden on Sunday for gentlemen.

China Fow piano and furniture polish for sale by the Oregon Furniture Co.

THINK OF IT.—There's Barr, 179 First street, actually not giving away, don't believe it, selling ladies' shoes at $1 and men's boots at $2 50. Well, you will never have another chance like this, and it is open only for a few days longer. Buy to-day.

[illegible].—Our down town friends will find in the New Franken Chop House, to be opened on Saturday, something ahead of anything they have had in that line. The proprietor has taken special pains to make the institution comfortable and inviting, and proposes to give them splendid meals for the money. The "New Franken" is located on First, in the new block, between D & E streets.

NEAT AND COSY.—The Mocha Coffee House and Restaurant under the management of Mr. Q. Voss, will be opened to the public Saturday morning. This establishment, opposite Union Block, has been transformed, and appears like new. The second floor has been divided into rooms, and like the rest, is fitted in neat style. Mr. Voss's extensive experience is sufficient guarantee that everything will be in the best order.

LADIES.—The best shoes for ladies, misses and children are made by Hathaway & Co., Utica, N. Y. [illegible].

THE OVERDUE STEAMER.

NO TIDINGS YET FROM THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

The Oregon, the Hylton Castle and the Richard Rush to her Assistance—Insurance on the Cargo Refused—The Passenger List, etc.

Not a word was heard yesterday from the State of California, now [illegible] days overdue. It is positively known that she crossed the bar which was smooth [illegible] Saturday noon, and that she was seen by the lighthouse keeper [illegible] at good speed. Her unaccountable delay was the subject of conversation in all circles here, and every [illegible] cause was assigned for her long detention. Any number of false rumors were started and soon gained general circulation. It is hardly possible that she was wrecked on the coast, because [illegible] would have been reported to some telegraph station by messenger [illegible]. The belief still exists among all conversant with the sea going steamers that her machinery is disabled, that she has put to sea, and is proceeding under sail. She carries comparatively little canvas and [illegible] to make more than three or four knots per hour. If she became disabled, say near Cape Blanco, she cannot reach San Francisco, even with favorable winds, before to-day or to-morrow. [illegible] that with a collier [illegible] bound north with which she [illegible] the Barnard Castle [illegible] at Victoria at 4 o'clock yesterday [illegible] fears entertained [illegible].

The delay creates [illegible] at San Francisco [illegible] by telegrams of inquiry by the [illegible] Hylton Castle, which was [illegible] for Victoria, was ordered to put well to sea and to [illegible] State [illegible] a westerly [illegible] and keep a sharp lookout. [illegible] Merry [illegible] Mayor D. P. [illegible] to [illegible] Barnard [illegible] at daylight this morning in search.

Insurance Refused.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1[illegible].—[illegible] on the cargo of the steamer State of California [illegible]. Yesterday insurance [illegible] at 10, [illegible] and 20 per cent. [illegible] cases have occurred in which 50 per cent was refused.

No News.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—5:35 P. M.—Nothing new about the "State."

On the Lookout.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The steamer Hylton Castle, which sailed yesterday, was ordered to keep well out to sea, as the State of California would keep from shore if her machinery was disabled. The Hylton Castle will be a day and a half longer than usual on her up trip, and a sharp lookout will be kept for the missing steamer.

Probabilities of a Collision.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Steamer Victoria arrived from New Westminster, B. C., two days overdue. The Barnard Castle was spoken Sunday, three days out, and about one day's sail from this port, beating up against a strong northwest gale. The ship James Nesmith, which has just arrived, spoke the Barnard Castle on that day (Sunday), so that there need be no fear of any collision having taken place. The Nesmith was on her way from Departure Bay, and was four days making an ordinary day's sail.

Second Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Information regarding the arrival of the steamer Victoria here and her having sighted the steamer Barnard Castle, is incorrect. The Victoria arrived at New Westminster today as reported by telegraph and saw nothing of the Barnard Castle. The ship James Nesmith did sight the Barnard Castle as reported, but that does not remove the possibility of the latter meeting the State of California, as at the time stated the latter steamer coming this way would have been north of that point, and if any collision has occurred between the two steamers it must have been somewhere off Humboldt Bay or thereabouts. The Barnard Castle usually keeps twenty miles or more off shore. The State of California generally runs closer in, but in case of foggy weather, which is reported by arrivals, she too would have kept off shore.

No Collision.

VICTORIA, May 19.—The Barnard Castle passed here at 3 P. M.

TO SECURE DEEP CHANNELS.

A DREDGE OF ADEQUATE CAPACITY CONTRACTED FOR.

To be Finished Immediately—Description of the Bars in the Columbia and Willamette, and History of the Work done on them.

A contract was let [illegible] Thompson and [illegible] for a new dredge for the Columbia and Willamette rivers. It will be equipped with the latest [illegible] machinery, and will be [illegible] by low water season. [illegible] of removing 600 cubic yards [illegible] per day and will [illegible] for the [illegible] of George [illegible].

The dredge now in use has [illegible] cubic yards per day and is entirely too small for the work required. [illegible] work [illegible] to allow [illegible] vessels of largest size [illegible] Portland to Astoria.

The subject [illegible] and was first contemplated [illegible] years ago by [illegible] work has been under the supervision of [illegible] Major [illegible] Williamson, Major [illegible], Colonel [illegible] and [illegible]. [illegible] were [illegible] deposit [illegible] dredged.

[illegible]

The next [illegible] above the [illegible] as well as the [illegible] is the force of the [illegible] different [illegible] change. The bottom is mostly sand and mud with coarse sand and gravel on top.

St. Helens is next. The original channel across the shoal, before any dredging was done, was abreast of Columbia City. A channel was successfully opened three times in three different years abreast of St. Helens with the dredge. The length of this shoal is about the same as the last, two [illegible] feet, and if dredged to 18 feet at low water, requires the removal of about 10,000 cubic yards. The material is fine sand with no mud or vegetation. This is the last bar in the Columbia.

The next is the mouth of the Willamette river. This is a very peculiar obstruction and the deposit is about the same every year in quantity and the kind of material, only changes as the freshets change in height and force. The channel has been dredged at this place every year. The length of the shoal is about 600 feet and requires the removal of about 7000 cubic yards. If not dredged there would be from 9 to 11 feet of water in the channel at low water. The bar was always dredged to 17 feet low water.

Post Office bar is next and about two miles from the mouth. This bar is very long, the deepest water following the west shore or island side of the river. This bar has been dredged twice only. The deposit is different again, having a very soft slushy mud on top of light coarse sand. The length of this bar is about 1800 feet from deep water curves. It does not change much, only as freshets change the banks, and although there is only about 16 feet of water on this bar at low water, there is not so much demand [illegible] of the nature of the bottom.

Swan Island bar is next. The first dredging at this place was under the city and afterwards by the United States. The dredge was the dipper pattern and secured a depth of 15 feet at low water. After this was accomplished 17 feet was obtained, which was finished in the fall of 1872 under Major Roberts. The channel dredged was 100 feet wide at the bottom and over 1000 feet in length. This channel has almost [illegible], and has to be dredged every year. The dredge used was small but was better for that [illegible] cubic yards per day [illegible].

Maj. Wm. Graves, the father-in-law of Gen. Henry A. Morrow, died at Niles, Mich., on the night of April 2?, aged 72 years. He was a native of New Hampshire, but had resided in Michigan since 1833, and was prominently identified with the interests of western Michigan as a business man and politician. He was elected secretary of state in 1852, and served during the administration of Gov. Fenton, being the last democratic secretary of state in Michigan; had been mayor of the city, held various local offices, and at the time of his death was just entering upon his fourth term as city treasurer. The wife of Gen. Morrow is the only living child and son, Col. Frank Graves, of the 8th Michigan, being killed while leading a charge at the battle of the Wilderness. His funeral took place under the direction of the Masonic fraternity, and was attended by many marks of public respect for the deceased.

A PERMANENT CALL.

Last evening a meeting of the trustees of the Baptist church was held, at which the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Rev. John A. Gray has supplied the pulpit of the First Baptist Church of Portland, with the most marked eloquence, ability and zeal, for nearly six months past, and to the entire satisfaction of the church and congregation; and

WHEREAS, It is the earnest desire of all to secure the continued services of one so gifted and zealous in the field of Christian warfare; therefore,

Resolved, That the Rev. John A. Gray be, and he is hereby invited and earnestly requested to become the pastor of this church until the further order of the church and congregation.

Rev. Mr. Gray has been only temporarily filling the pulpit of the First Baptist Church of Portland. He will doubtless accept the pastorate so handsomely tendered him by the trustees of the church.

PERUVIAN BITTERS

Stimulate the DIGESTIVE ORGANS, regulate the LIVER and cleanse the KIDNEYS. A wine-glassful before each meal will make you believe this statement.

They CURE DYPSOMANIA (the Alcohol disease) by their charming action upon the STOMACH, restoring its natural tone and entirely destroying the MORBID APPETITE for stimulants. MALARIA disappears before them, and PERFECT HEALTH resumes its sway.

CHINCONA RUBRA (Peruvian Bark), together with other valuable ingredients, compounded with the best medical skill, is what this is.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 20, 1881

LIGHT THROUGH CLOUDS.

Because I hold it sinful to despond,
And will not let the bitterness of life
Blind me with burning tears, but look beyond
Its tumult and its strife;

Because I lift my head above the mist,
Where the sun shines and the broad breezes blow,
By every ray and every raindrop kissed
That God's love doth bestow;

Think you I find no bitterness at all,
No burden to be borne, like Christian's pack?
Think you there are no ready tears to fall,
Because I keep them back?

Why should I hug life's ills with cold reserve,
To curse myself and all who love me? Nay,
A thousand times more good than I deserve
God gives me every day.

And in each one of these rebellious tears,
Kept bravely back, he makes a rainbow shine;
Grateful I take his slightest gift, no fears
Nor any doubts are mine.

Dark skies must clear, and when the clouds are past
One golden day redeems a weary year;
Patient I listen, sure that sweet at last
Will sound his voice of cheer.

THURSDAY, May 19.

Stock of the O. R. & N. Company was quoted at at 157 in New York to-day. Northern Pacific common, 47¾; preferred, 78.

Small business has been transacted in wheat during the past week, generally at $1 30 per cental. Two cents higher was paid to-day, however, and the market closes rather firm at $1 30@1 32. The advance is due to the fact that cargoes are wanted for several ships now in port, and that charter rates have declined somewhat from the extreme high rates paid a few weeks ago. The Merom at 80 shillings to a direct port, equal to 82s 6d for the usual "U. K." charter; and the Martha Fisher and Lizzie Bell at 82s 6d to a direct port, the equivalent of 85s U. K. The last engagement preceding these, was a fortnight ago at 90s, a charter which should never have been paid. These charters leave the river clear of disengaged tonnage.

WOOL.—Receipts are increasing from Eastern Oregon and Washington, some 400 bales having been received during the past week, a liberal share of this coming from Walla Walla. Receipts so far tend to confirm the impression made by first receipts of the season, viz., that the condition is better than last year. This will apply as a rule, to which wools from some unfavored localities lying in the snow belt will be exceptions. Sales for the week aggregate some 40,000 pounds at our last week's quotations, 18@21c. There are no transactions in valley wool yet, though we hear of shearing in some localities, and wools of this class may be expected in market in ten days.

The salmon run is steadily increasing and now promises well for the season. The average catch per boat for the week has been about 30. This estimate is made upon general information from half a dozen points on the river, and is not accurate as to any particular place. The canneries are having some trouble to arrange definitely at the rate paid last year—[illegible] cents per fish—and not more than one-third of the boats ready for business are in service.

The fruit crop this year will be larger almost by half than ever before. The weather all during the spring has been most favorable for orchards and fruits of every kind.

Entrances at the custom house to-day:

Steamship [illegible], Bolles commander, from San Francisco, with passengers and freight and the following: [illegible] general merchandise.

British bark Martha Fisher, [illegible], master, from Newcastle, N. S. W., 1135 tons coal for O. R. & N. Co.

Cleared today: British bark Selkirkshire, 1271 tons, [illegible] master, for Liverpool with 19,448 bbls of Salem bakers' flour, value $82,65[illegible]. Shipped by Sibson & Church.

Home Produce Market.

Quotations for flour remain unchanged. Stocks are still accumulating. No sales worth mentioning have been made during the week. Oats are in fair demand, particularly good feed quality. The demand for good milling oats is rather small. Both are unchanged in price but are firm at quotations. Hay is in very liberal supply. All good lots find ready sale. Mill feed is plentiful and the demand continues to fall off owing to excellence of pasturage. All cured meats are in very plentiful supply, with a rather limited demand. Side meat, particularly, is very dull sale. The supply of lard is very good and the demand is fair. Prices have not dropped as was expected last week. Dried apples are still accumulating, receipts being very large, and it is feared that they will soon be a drug in the market. The prospect for a large crop of green fruits will probably cause Plummer apples to drop to 7 or 8c per pound. Quotations for hides remain unchanged though they are rather firm. Shipments to California continue large. Receipts of butter are much larger than last week. Prices are considerably weaker all round. Onions have begun already to arrive from California, the first shipment coming through to-day by steamer. Eggs have advanced 2c, owing to small receipts during the week, though there is a possibility of a decline. Cheese has declined owing to heavy receipts from California. We note also small amounts of new Oregon cheese. Oregon apples are out of market. Shipment from California are soon expected. There is no demand for timothy seed. Receipts of chickens are small and the demand is very limited. Salmon in kegs is very scarce and the demand is very good. Potatoes are a drug and holders who expected fancy prices go begging for purchasers. New potatoes from California have almost taken the place of old Oregon. Shingles are in good demand and receipts are light. Choice lots always find ready purchasers, but second and third class grades are not wanted.

THE GENUINE
CELEBRATED
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. [illegible]

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of
ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who can not consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.
